

The Pinkham Remedies

For disorders of the female organs have gained their great renown and enormous sale because of the permanent good they have done and are doing for the women of this country.

If all ailing or suffering women could be made to understand how absolutely true are the statements about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, their sufferings would end.

Mrs. Pinkham counsels women free of charge. Her address is Lynn, Mass. The advice she gives is practical and honest. You can write freely to her; she is a woman.

WANDERING IN DREAMLAND.

How an Absent-Minded Woman Created a Laugh in a Street Car.

The young woman's mind was probably "off" in the land of nod, and yokes and flannels, and plaitings, and appliques, and ruffles, and things like that, whatever they may mean, says the Washington Post.

Anyhow, when she got on an uptown Ninth street car the other afternoon, she untidily opened her pocketbook when the conductor came around for her fare, stuck a gloved finger and thumb into one of her compartments of the same, extracted a couple of foul samples and, with that faraway expression still in her eyes, handed them to the conductor. The conductor was a middle-aged man. He smiled and waited for the young woman to come out of her trance. "But she held the foul samples out to him with her eyes on vacancy, until the conductor, still grinning, had to fetch her back to earth."

"Yes, they're pretty, miss," he said, "and I'd like to get my wife a dress of that piece on top, but she—"

The young woman blushed like a red-hot stove lid, dug into another compartment of her pocketbook for a car ticket, and she looked real embarrassed, when the brutal male persons across the car aisle grinned, so she did.

Matter of Memory.

The man who was attempting suicide was not sinking for the third time. Of course, it was necessary hereupon that he recall everything in his past life in the space of one instant.

"Again my cursed memory!" he hissed, and he waded ashore in much chagrin, which was in nowise lessened by the derisive laughter of the spectators.—Detroit News.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson in the International Series for June 2, 1900—The Twelve Sent Forth.

[Prepared by H. C. Lenington.]

THE LESSON TEXT.

(Matthew 9:35 to 10:5.)

35. And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people.

36. But when He saw the multitudes, He was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd.

37. Then saith He unto His disciples: The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few.

38. Pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest, that He will send forth laborers into His harvest.

1. And when He had called unto Him His 12 disciples, He gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease.

2. Now the names of the 12 apostles are these: The first, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew, his brother; James, the son of Zebedee, and John, his brother; & Philip, and Bartholomew; Thomas, and Matthew, the publican; James, the son of Alphaeus, and Lebbaeus, whose surname was Thaddaeus;

4. Simon, the Canaanite, and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed him.

5. These 12 Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying: Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not;

6. But go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

7. And as ye go, preach, saying: The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand.

8. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils; freely ye have received, freely give.

9. It is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you.—Matt. 10:20.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The lesson study should include the text as printed above and through the tenth chapter. The following brief analysis may be helpful:

The Spiritual Harvest Field.—vs. 35-38 The Twelve Apostles Chosen.—vs. 1-4 The Apostles Sent Forth.—vs. 5-8 Special Instructions.—vs. 9-12

The Spiritual Harvest Field.—We have come now in our study of the life of Christ to the last quarter of His second year. Jesus toured among the towns of Galilee during the autumn of A. D. 28 and the winter just following. He went into the Jewish synagogues, and there preached the coming of the Kingdom of Heaven. He not only preached, but He healed. Not only did He speak gracious words, but He performed kindly acts. His effective and pointed preaching and His beautiful life attracted the people.

But to appreciate what Jesus said concerning the shepherdless multitudes it is not necessary to suppose that other reasons may have brought many to hear and see the great Teacher. It may be, as some have said, that the throngs followed out of idle curiosity to see the miracles; they may have been hungry for the loaves and fishes. But whatever the motives of the people, Jesus saw down into their hearts. They were sin-sick and weary. Jesus had compassion upon them, as sheep having no shepherd.

The Twelve Apostles Chosen.—It was in furtherance of the great work before Him that Jesus now commissioned the Twelve who had been closest to Him for some months past. He had selected them to be with Him and learn His ways just before His Sermon on the Mount. This was early in the summer of this same year. Now they were not only to learn, but they were to do some actual work.

So He called the Twelve, gave them especial power over unclean spirits and disease and gave them their commission.

Before passing to this, however, we may note briefly something concerning these 12 men. First come Simon, whom Jesus had called "Peter," meaning a rock. He fulfilled Jesus' expectations and became the "rock" of the early church. Andrew was Peter's brother. They were among the first five of Jesus' disciples. They were brothers whom Jesus had called "sons of thunder" (Boanerges), because of their fiery dispositions. John afterward so learned to control his temper that he became "the disciple whom Jesus loved." Bartholomew is said to be the Nathaniel of John 1:45. Lebbaeus is the same as Thaddaeus and as Judas (Jude). Simon was a Canaanite, which means that he was one of the sect of fanatic nationalists who were always in revolt against the foreign yoke. Judas Iscariot was the only disciple who was not a Galilean. Iscariot means "man of Kerioth," a Judean town.

The Apostles Sent Forth.—The commission of the disciples was to preach among the Israelites, and not among Gentiles. This was because Jesus had been sent to the chosen people of God first. They were better prepared for the message (at least should have been) by their long national training. First to the Jews, then to the Gentiles was the order. Their message was to be: "The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." The King had come, remission of sins might be had through repentance and faith. They were further to heal the sick, cleanse the lepers and cast out devils. Jesus says to them: "Freely ye have received, freely give." They had been with Him, drunk in His message of cheer and salvation, now they were to spread forth to the people what they had received.

Teaching of John the Baptist. John the Baptist, the greatest of the prophets, gathered together the scattered rays of Old Testament prediction into these two sayings, which will be forever associated with his name: "Behold the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world!" and "He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with fire." The first is the Gospel of atonement; the second is the Gospel of regeneration; and both together give a comprehensive summary of all that Jesus brings to men.—William M. Taylor.

CARTER MEDICINE CO. WINS.

Obtains Injunction in Case Involving Stimulation of Labels.

Brent Good, president of the Carter Medicine Company, yesterday received a telegram from his lawyers in Chicago, informing him that a final injunction, with costs, had been granted against the Chicago Label and Box Company. This company makes a specialty of manufacturing labels, boxes, etc., for druggists. The Carter Company has been following them through the courts for two years on the complaint that the label company was making simulations of the labels of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They have now obtained a final injunction, with costs, and the costs are very large, as the case has been submitted to a Master in Chancery for a final accounting.

The Carter Medicine Company has been the first and only one to prosecute printers or engravers who have prepared such labels and wrappers. It marks a new departure in infringement cases, and their victory is one of great importance to the whole "proprietary trade," and also of interest to retail druggists.—N. Y. Press, May 2, 1900.

"Mit Lots of Fedders."

Robert Frank, the well-known artist, is a self-supporting man, and not until he became a self-supporting man did he have a chance to pursue the regular studies which most people have in earlier life, says the Philadelphia Post.

When he began drawing for a living his workshop was so excellent that he had no difficulty in securing orders. One day he delivered some sketches to an employer, who said: "By the by, Frank, I want a picture drawn in a great hurry. It is a novel thing, a boxing kangaroo."

"Ja wohl," answered the artist, "I will have it ready to-morrow for you."

"You know what a kangaroo is, of course," Frank must have been thinking of an ostrich, because he answered with a complacent smile.

"Ja, gewisslich. It is a long, tall thing mit lots of fedders." And "Fedders" has been his nickname ever since.

Cataract Cannot Be Cured

BARBER GOT IT MIXED.

In Relating a Little Joke He, After the Manner of His Kind, Turned It Upon Himself.

Henry Lamm, an attorney of Sedalia, told a story at the reception to the Missouri Bar association recently which caused a great laugh, says the Kansas City Star. Mr. Lamm was called on to make an impromptu speech. He said:

"This is taking an unfair advantage of me. I have a paper in my pocket which I am to read at the meeting to-morrow. It is a very dry paper and it will take me an hour to read it. If I am given the slightest encouragement I will read it right now. That would be one on you, wouldn't it?"

"And that reminds me. I was in Texas recently and there they have a new joke. A man asks you: 'Have you heard the story about the two dirty collars?' You are supposed to answer: 'No.' And then the man says: 'That's one on you.'"

A Dutch barber who had been sold on this joke concluded to try it on the next customer who came into his shop. So as he was getting ready to shave the next caller he asked him:

"Haf you heard dot story about the two dirty collars?"

"Vell, dot's one you got on."

Histrionic Improbability.

It was during the performance of "Quo Vadis" at Eureka, and Vincinus was begging Petronius to forget his reproaches, saying, tearfully:

"Ah, how can you ever forgive me?"

"Vincinus," replied Petronius, with great earnestness, "thou art my only sister's dead child."

Whereupon the audience, which was not dead, but only bored, burst into huge laughter.—Kansas City Journal.

A Different Declaration.

"She is very proud of the fact that she has an ancestor who was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence."

"That's nothing to be proud of. There's a divorce in our family, too."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

PE-RU-NA FOR WOMEN

The debilitating drains and discharges which weaken so many women are caused by Catarrh of the distinctly feminine organs. The sufferer may call her trouble Leucorrhoea, or Weakness, or Female Disease, or some other name, but the real trouble is catarrh of the female organs and nothing else.

Pe-ru-na radically and permanently cures this and all other forms of Catarrh. It is a positive specific for female troubles caused by catarrh of the delicate lining of the organs peculiar to women. It always cures if used persistently. It is prompt and certain.

It is during the performance of "Quo Vadis" at Eureka, and Vincinus was begging Petronius to forget his reproaches, saying, tearfully:
